

1996 Automotive Technology Development
Customers' Coordination Meeting

ORNL-DWG 96M-6783

Development of ASTM Standards for Heat Engines Ceramics

Charles Brinkman

Metals and Ceramics Division
Oak Ridge National Laboratory
Oak Ridge, TN. 37831
(423) 574-5106

George Quinn

Metals and Ceramics Division
National Institute Standards Technology
Gaithersburg, MD. 20899
(301) 975-5765

OBJECTIVE : To present an overview of ASTM Committee
C-28 activities in support of standards development.*

---

*Research sponsored by the Heavy Vehicle Propulsion Materials Program, DOE Office of Transportation Technologies, under contract DE-AC05-96OR22464 with Lockheed Martin Energy Research Corporation.

1996 Automotive Technology Development
Customers' Coordination Meeting

ORNL-DWG 96M-6784

ABSTRACT :

The Ceramics Technology Program has contributed to the development of 20 new ceramic standards in the American Society for Testing and Materials in Committees C-28, Advanced Ceramics and G-2, Wear and Erosion. These standards have fostered improved quality data and credible data bases that facilitate the utilization of advanced ceramics in heat engines. Standardization is well advanced and is indicative of the maturation of advanced ceramics from research laboratory to structural engineering materials.

---